Obituary

Jean Claude Milfranc, who was called, “Jean” for short by family and friends was born to the late Saintilia Gabriel and Antoine Milfranc on March 6th, 1952 in Haiti in an area called Petite Dedunes where he was raised.

In 1977, he met and married Sulfide Desir and had three beautiful daughters, the first is Claudine Milfranc, followed by Merlande Milfranc and the baby of the three is Cynthia Milfranc.

He left Haiti in 1979 arriving in Nassau, Bahamas where he lived for two years until moving to Miami, Florida where he spent another three years before moving on and finding the place where he could call home. He left Miami and spent another year living in Connecticut before finally settling down and making a home for himself and his family in Irvington, NJ in 1985.

Jean was the type of man who liked a good joke and to tell a good joke. He was strong minded and intelligent. He loved to argue about politics and what he thought the government was doing wrong and he could hold a debate with you about which sports teams were better, of course his favorites always topped those debates. Jean was a humorous man when he wanted to be and quite serious when he needed to be. He will be missed by all who knew and loved him.

Jean is survived by: his wife, Sulfide Milfranc; daughters, Claudine, Merlande and Cynthia; his son, Jean Junior; his grandson, Christopher; his sister, Charite Evans, the Gabriel family, the Pierre family, the Geneus family, the Germain family, the Desir family and the Saintelus family.

Through everything that’s happened we’ve always loved you.

I'm

Free

Don't grieve for me, for now I'm free
I'm following the path God laid for me.
I took His hand when I heard him call;
I turned my back and left it all.

I could not stay another day,
To laugh, to love, to work or play.
Tasks left undone must stay that way;
I found that place at the close of day.

If my parting has left a void,
Then fill it with remembered joy.
A friendship shared a laugh, a kiss;
Ah yes, these things, I too will miss.

Be not burdened with times of sorrow
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been full, I savored much;
Good friends, good times,
a loved ones touch.

Perhaps my time seems all to brief;
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief.
Lift up your heart and share with me,
God wanted me now, He set me free.
