Reflections of Life

Annie Mae Cook was born in Lucknow, South Carolina on July 14, 1918. She was the third of nine children, born to the late David and Julia Kelly.

She was educated in the Bethune, South Carolina School system, and relocated to Paterson, NJ in 1943, where she met and married the late James Cook.

She was employed as a Presser at Spotless Cleaners for many years. She also was employed by Kohner Brothers Toy Co., where she eventually retired.

Annie Mae was a faithful member of the Neighborhood Baptist Church for fifty-three years, where she served as Mother of the Church, and was well respected and loved. Sister Cook started each day by reading the scriptures.

She was preceded in death by one sister, Leahanna Williams; three brothers, David, Edward, and Johnnie Kelly.

She leaves to cherish her memories: one daughter, Willene Spencer; one son, Robert Kelly, both of Paterson, NJ; four sisters, Corrie Gantt of Bethune, SC, Janet Williams and Marie Barber of Trenton, NJ, and Almeta Brown of Paterson, NJ; nine grandchildren; sixteen great grandchildren; ten great-great grandchildren; a special friend, Sister Carrie Isom; and a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives, friends and neighbors.

Miss

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?*

Me

*Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,*

But

*Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.*

Let

*It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.*

Me

*Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*

Go
