Obituary

Christopher Terry Delegal was born on August 5, 1938 to Christopher and Ethel Delegal of New York City.

Christopher was educated in the New York City Public School system. He was employed by the New York Transit Authority as a Train Conductor for thirty-two years before retiring in 1994. He attended the First Baptist Church of Central Harlem and was an Inner Guard in the Elks Fraternal Order in Industry Lodge #889.

Christopher's hobbies included: collecting classic model cars, traveling and photography, but he most enjoyed playing his congas when he could.

After a brief illness, Christopher fell into his final sleep on Saturday, November 13, 2010 at the Isabella Geriatric Center in New York City.

He leaves to cherish his memory: his wife, Barbara Delegal; three children, Marcus and Raymond Daugherty of the Bronx, NY and Robbin Daugherty of New York City; one daughter-in-law, Linda McKinzie-Daugherty; two grandchildren, Brianna and Mia Daugherty; one brother, David Delegal of New York City; one niece, Simone Delegal of New York City; one sister-in-law, Veronica Delegal; and a host of friends and other relatives.

*Life is but a stopping place
A pause in what's to be A resting place along the road
too sweet eternity
We all have different journeys
Different paths along the way
We all were meant to learn some things
But never meant to stay
Our destination is a place
Far greater than we know
For some the journey's quicker
For some the journey's slow and when the journey finally ends
We'll claim a great reward,
And find an everlasting peace
Together with the Lord.*
