Reflections of Life

Patrick Delroy Smith was born on March 6, 1968 in Clarendon, Jamaica to proud parents Finly and Stephne Smith. Patrick departed this earthly life and went home to be with the Lord on Saturday, November 20, 2010 in Bronx, New York as a result of a motor vehicle accident.

“Slicer” as he was affectionately called, migrated to America in 2006. He worked at Mike’s Auto Body Shop in East Point, Atlanta. He relocated to New Jersey, where he worked as a custodian by day and a party promoter at night.

Slicer was a very hardworking and responsible man, who loved his family dearly. He was truly fond of horses and music. Slicer enjoyed being around good-hearted people. A dapper dresser he was, he also had a positive outlook on life. He will be deeply missed.

He leaves to cherish his fond and unforgettable memories: a loving wife, Ralfela; mother and stepfather, Stephne and Paul; father and stepmother, Finly and Cindy; two daughters, Teryonn and Misheka; a grandson; stepsons, Christopher, Courtney and Horatio; four sisters, one brother and two stepsisters; his grandmother; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, other loving relatives and many fine friends.

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take
and each and every one of us must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
a step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
go to the friends we know.
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds
Miss me-but let me go.*
