Obituary

On Thursday, December 23, 2010 God called one of his children home, Wayne Damont Davis (Wayne-O), at the tender age of thirty. We have come to learn that death does not acknowledge age. Although we would not wish a short life on anyone we love, ultimately it is not up to us. So spend your time here on earth whether it is short or long with honorable motives and spiritual awareness.

Being raised as a child in a family whom at the time was financially well-to-do, Wayne quickly became popular and well known. The evidence of his family's support helped him and his cousin, Corey to shine beyond the norm, of the average child in the community.

His education came by way of the NYC School system and the neighborhood in which he was raised. His grandmother, Ms. Cora Lee Davis also known as "Moms" was the matriarch of 111th street, his uncle, Tyrone "T-bone" Davis served as the patriarch of 111th Street. Both preceded him in death along with his uncle, Kenneth Davis.

Wayne always had a passion for music resulting in him becoming an asset to the "Dirty Fetti" family. His latest release is a testament to his life, family and friends.

In his adult years Wayne joined Second Canaan Baptist Church in an attempt to put down the trivia of his past. He held firm the belief that; there was a greater purpose in life for him, which resulted in him investing his time to the studio and associates that produced his CD.

Wayne touched many lives in his time here with us. He leaves to cherish his memory: his mother, Vivian Davis; his six children, Kawaisha, Wayne Damont, Damont Wayne, Lanae Unique, Damiya Cora Lee and Damier Jeremiah; his aunts, Denise, Veronica and uncles, David, Keith, Dennis and Jerome in addition to other aunts and uncles through marriage; cousins, nieces, nephews, friends, admirers and his brother at heart, Spike.

The family of Wayne would like to sincerely thank you for your prayers, thoughtfulness, and words of encouragement during our time of grief.

Miss Me But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*
