Obituary

Bilal Ibn Cooke also known as “BL”, made his entrance on June 17, 1988 in Newark, New Jersey to Jerris Monique Cooke and the late Lawrence Worthy. He attended the Newark Public School system.

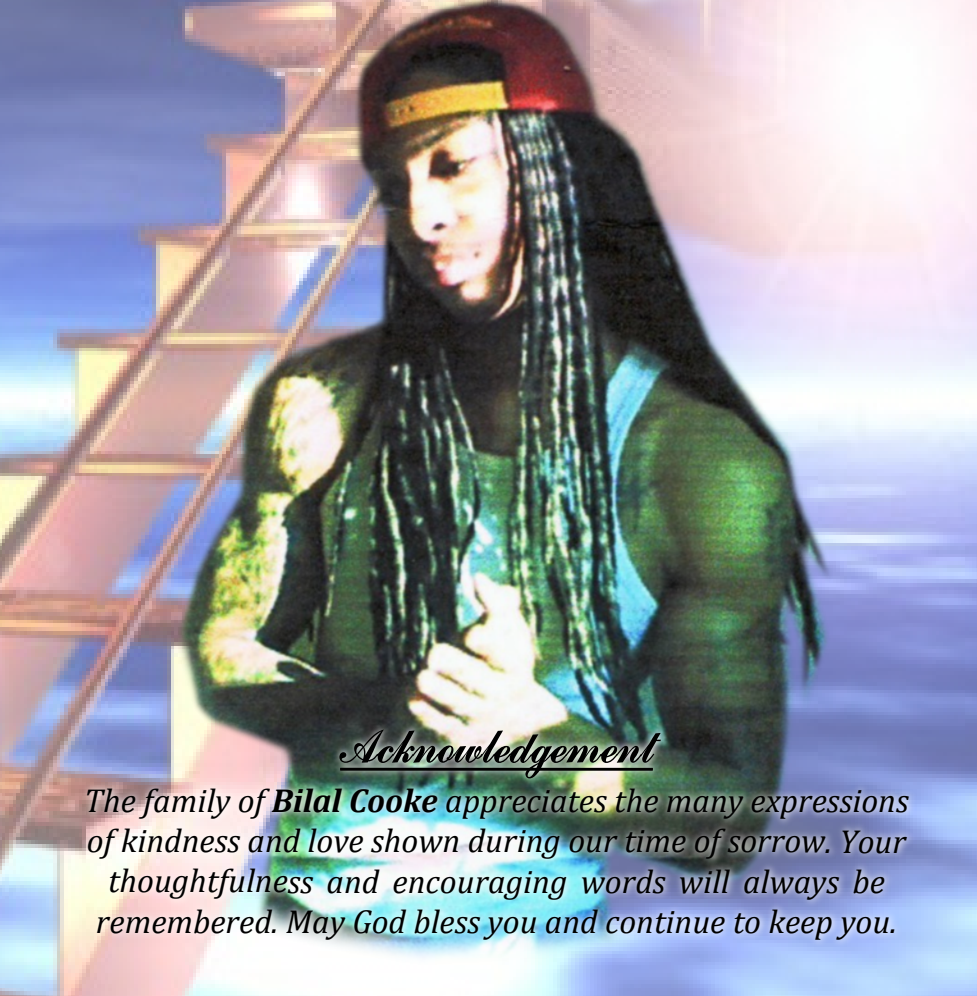

Bilal was a loving and caring young man who appreciated life. Bilal also believed in family values and would keep your spirits up with his laughter, jokes, and pranks, he was a true comedian.

He was preceded in death by an uncle, the late Eric Cooke.

On June 27, 2011, Bilal Ibn Cooke was called home, leaving to mourn his loss: his mother, Jerris Monique Cooke; step-father, Garnett Donaldson; his loving children, Qualay, Zayna and Naziyyah; five brothers, Wali, Khaleef, Big Brother Barry, Sharrod and Dawud; six sisters, Fathiyyah, Raveen, Ameerah, Masana, Hassana and Khaleelah; one grandmother, Karen Cooke; grandfather, Cleveland Cooke; three aunts, Rokecia, Lauren and Angela; an uncle, Cory; special companion, Sajada Fedd; and a host of uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces, cousins and many devoted friends.

To know my son was a great joy, he touched many lives with his laughter and wonderful personality. He will be truly missed by many, especially me.

~Submitted By His Mother

*If tears could build a stairway
and memories a lane,
I'd walk right up to heaven
and bring you home again.*
