Obituary

Antoine Alexander Noël, or Lex as he was known to family and friends, was born on May 5, 1957, to Albert and Elaine Noël.

Lex received his formal education in the New York City Public School system. He grew into maturity at the Amsterdam Houses where he was a familiar fixture in the community. He was known for riding his uni-cycle during his early years.

As many of you know Lex was good with his hands and liked to fix things. He was famous for fixing bikes, cars and any kind of electronic device. He was often referred to as Mr. Fix-it.

After a lengthy illness, Lex was called home to rest on Wednesday, April 18, 2012. He was preceded in death by his parents, the late Albert and Elaine Noël. Lex touched the lives of many people with his smile and generosity.

Lex will forever be remembered by: his devoted brother, Anthony Noël; loving sister, Patrice Noel-Brown; treasured nephews, Jason Serrano, Anthony Raymond Noël, Jalen Brown, and niece, Cheyenne Brown. He also leaves to mourn a caring brother-in-law, Edward Brown, Jr. and surrogate sister and special friend, Linda Alexander; along with countless other family and friends whom were blessed to know him.

Miss Me But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road; And the sun has set for me
I want no rites in a gloom filled room; Why cry for a soul set free
Miss me a little-but not too long; And not with your head bowed low
Remember the love that we once shared; Miss me-but let me go
For this is a journey that we must all take; And each must go alone
It's all a part of the Master's plan; A step on the road to home
When you are lonely, and sick of heart; Go to the friends we know
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds; Miss me-but let me go
Lovingly submitted, The Family*

A Tribute

God saw you getting tired, and a cure was not to be. So He put his arms around you, and whispered, "Come to Me." With tearful eyes, we watched you suffer, and saw you fade away. Although we loved you dearly, we could not make you stay. A golden heart stopped beating, you are finally at rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us, He only takes the best!!

Acknowledgement
