The Last Request

Please don't say that I gave up, just say that I gave in;
Don't say that I lost the battle, for it was God's war to lose or win;
Please don't say how good I was, but that I did my best;
Just say I tried to do what's right, to give the most I could, not less;
Just look into the corners of my heart and see the woman I wanted to be.
I may not have reached my goal, but I was more than mere eyes could see.
Please don't give me wings or halos, that's for God to do;
I want no more that I deserve, nothing extra, just my due.
Don't ponder on what could have been, it's over and it's done.
Just be glad I'm Home with God and that victory's won.
When you paint a picture of me, don't paint me as a saint;
I've done some good, I've done some wrong, so, use all of your paint;
Paint the smile I gave to you with all the burdens I've had to bear.
Paint the love I felt for you when my life was in despair.
And remember all the good times and not just the bad.
For life is full of many things-some happy and some sad.
Remember that I loved you, even though at time it did not show.
But if my heart could sing its melodies, the words it would speak, you would know. But if you must do something, then I have on request
Forgive me for the wrongs I've done, and with the love that's left,
Thank God for my soul's resting, thank God for I've been blessed,
Thank God for all who loved me, Praise God who loved me best!
