

If You Could See Me Now

Our prayers have all been answered

I finally arrived

The healing that had been delayed
has now been realized.

No one's in a hurry

There's no schedule to keep

We're all enjoying Jesus

Just sitting at His feet

If you could see me now,

I'm walking streets of gold.

If you could see me now,

I'm standing strong and whole.

If you could see me now,

You'd know I've seen His face.

If you could see me now

You'd know the pain is erased

You wouldn't want me

to ever leave this place,

If you could only see me now.

My light and temporary trials

Have worked out for my good.

To know it brought Him glory

When I misunderstood.

Though we've had our sorrows,

They can never compare.

What Jesus has in store for us

No language can share.

Obituary

William Gerald Slaughter Jr. affectionately known as "Sox" to everyone was born to William and Mary Slaughter on December 29, 1952 in Washington, DC. "Sox" passed away on the afternoon of December 10, 2012.

"Sox" enjoyed watching sports of all kinds and was a die hard New York Giants fan. He loved his R & B and Jazz and would often cook to his music. James Brown was his favorite artist and back in the day he would dance just like him. Everyone loved Sox's cooking and it was known by many that the best day to just drop by would be on fish fry Friday. Sox will truly be missed.

He was preceded in death by his father, William Slaughter, sister, Averlyn Oshodi and nephew, Malik Slaughter.

He leaves behind: his beloved mother, Mary; sisters, Robin and Brigette; brothers, Tony and Darnell; eleven nephews and nieces, thirteen great nephews and nieces, as well as a host of family and friends.
