Obituary

Eddie Spoke this Psalm to his wife in a Dream:

*I called to the Lord, who is worthy of praise,
and I have been saved from my enemies.*

*The cords of death entangled me;
the torrents of destruction overwhelmed me.
The cords of the grave coiled around me;
the snares of death confronted me.*

*In my distress I called to the LORD;
I cried to my God for help.*

*From his temple he heard my voice;
my cry came before him, into his ears.*

Psalm 18:3-6

Mr. Eddie Ligon Jr., was born in Tuskegee, Alabama. He was the son of the late Queen Elizabeth Mount and Eddie Ligon, Sr. On December 6, 2013 early Friday morning, Eddie faded away peaceful.

He attended the public school of Tuskegee, graduated and went to Georgia. From there he enlisted in the Army. He was released from honorable active duty. He came to New York and right away started working at Port Drago Shoe Repair where he retired. He was surely a gentleman. Everybody loved him.

Left to cherish his precious memories are: his loving wife, Geraldine (Lisa) Ligon; three sons, Charles, Edward and Tracy Ligon; one stepson, Craig; two daughters, Lorraine and Rayneise; seven grandchildren, Rain, Jaden, Taylor, Tiffney, Jehani, Josiah and AJ; two sisters, Virginia Houston and Roslyn (Larry) Jeter; two brothers, James Ligon and Leonard (Inez) Ligon; two brothers-in-law, Allen (Della) McBride and Sabree (Fareedah) Abdullah; one sister-in-law, Betty Gee; and a host of nieces, nephews and a special niece, Michelle Ligon; one spiritual son, John Bailey and a host of friends who loved him dearly.

Praise God Lasting Memories will linger on!!

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*
