Obituary

Anita Yvonne Campbell, the daughter of the late Olga Campbell and John Campbell was born on October 6, 1940 in Harlem, New York. She was educated in the New York City Public School system. During her early years, she spent her time as a homemaker and care-giver to her children and grandchildren.

She met and married Pondexton Coley in 1994, and their affection remained for each other until her death.

Anita was a naturally beautiful woman and her smile could light up a room. She was a dedicated mother, sister, and friend. She had a kind heart and welcomed everyone into her home.

She was a lover of music, she loved to dance, and loved life. Her favorite music was Calypso, and Rhythm and Blues (R&B).

She was preceded in death by her son, Anthony “Tony” Campbell, a brother, John Campbell, two sisters, Irene Gilmore and Emily Williams.

Anita leaves to cherish her memories: her husband, Pondexton Coley; five sons and two daughter-in-laws; Michael Ransom, Wendell Ransom, Darryl Campbell, Eric Campbell (Danita Campbell), and Troy Campbell (Kendra Van Dyke-Campbell); her god daughter; Terri Vera, five sisters; Enid Riddick, Rosalie Telfair, Lucille Green, Cheryl Williams, and Donna Hawkins; one brother, Robert Williams; 75 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren, step-children, nieces, nephews, other relatives and loving friends.

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

*When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.*
