

Afterglow

*I'd like the memory of me
To be a happy one,
I'd like to leave an afterglow
Of smiles when day is done.
I'd like to leave an echo
Whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times and laughing times
And bright and sunny days.
I'd like the tears of those who grieve
To dry before the sun
Of happy memories that I leave behind,
When the day is done.*

Enid Eugene Woolford nee' Clement (Cousin Jean), was born in Georgetown, Guyana on Saturday 29th June 1924. She was the daughter of the late Marie Jeune and James Clement. She was married to the late George Woolford.

Enid was educated at Golden Grove Methodist School where she gained a good education. She was very bright. She always felt that she could have progressed further in her studies, but on the death of her beloved grandmother Emma Straker Jeune, her formal education was ended prematurely. Enid was raised by her grandmother. When Enid subsequently had her own children, she endeavored to make it possible that each of them had a good educational background. She encouraged them to work hard, and aim high in order to achieve their full potential.

Enid was an industrious and independent woman “hard work” was her middle name. She had numerous jobs to support her family, and still finding the time and energy to sell shave-ice every day outside the school, and black pudding at Four Corner on Saturdays. Also, she would sell at ball field during cricket matches, and at school sports. She could turn her hand to anything, even making a kitchen bench. The list of things she did is endless, and her tenacity and appetite for work was truly admired by her peers.

Enid was a member of the Golden Grove Methodist Church and Women's League, where she attended church regularly.
