Obituary

Al-Tariq Raheem Davis entered this world on November 17, 1985 at University Hospital in Newark, NJ to Lorraine Davis and Ronald Tolliver. Al-Tariq was called home on March 20, 2014 at University Hospital in Newark, NJ.

Al-Tariq attended Bergen Street School as a child, graduated from West Side High School in Newark, NJ, and later attended Lincoln Tech.

Al-Tariq better known as Riq, had a good heart and his own personal relationship with God. On August 13, 2006, at his daughter Ahmyah's baby dedication, he surrendered and gave his heart to Christ. Though he did not attend church on a regular basis, he prayed with his family and kept strong ties with the leaders of the church.

Riq had a sense of humor out of this world. He enjoyed making people laugh, in fact if he could speak right now a lot of you would be in trouble. Riq was a family man. On August 20, 2010, he married his soul mate and mother of his children, Nefertiti Davis. His daughters are his world. Riq went above and beyond for his family and anyone he cared about.

In 2012, Riq became a CEO of MTG Entertainment. With the help of close friends he made his dreams a reality. A booming record label with gifted artists, Riq was on a road to success. He traveled the world and met different people. His passion for cars and shoes was unimaginable. Riq truly lived as a king, very humble, and to know him was to love him.

Al-Tariq was preceded in death by his great grandmother, Hazel Davis Alderson, brother, Ibn Williams, cousins, Zakie Brown, Talib, Jr., uncles, Talib, Sr., and James Davis. Aunt, Denise Davis.

Al-Tariq is survived by: his parents, Lorraine Davis, Ronald Tolliver and stepfather, Bryant Eggleston; wife, Nefertiti Davis; daughters, Ahmyah and Ahnylah Davis, Shatirah and Sajada Winstead; sons, Deandre Moore and Nerrod Winstead; mother-in-law, Joy Winstead; sisters, Shanique Davis, Tyshimah and Shay Gibbs; brother, Ahmad Eggleston; grandmothers, Maureen Davis and Gloria Tolliver; grandfathers, Eugene Robinson and John Tolliver; and host of aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.
