Truly in Reality (The Creator) there is no death as death is most often perceived by the in aware of mankind amongst men and jinn, and life is masked by the illusions Of Life in Created forms of existence; therefore, providing it to be other than what most of mankind perceives of it. Life and death as mankind perceives it is just the evolution of things that are Created Within the Reality and Sent down From Its' Oceans In The Essence of Creative Matter to Its' Realms of Life High to the Low and back again in Divinely Calculated time.
