Obituary

Jessie James Summerville passed away on Sunday, January 4, 2015.

Jessie was born on September 1, 1951 in Aliceville, Alabama to the late Hugh and Annie Summerville. They had a total of six children, Hugh and Lonnie Summerville (deceased) and he is survived by his brother, Bill Summerville and two sisters, Annie Ruth Rivers and Betty Billips.

Upon graduation he moved to New York in 1970 and later married his lifelong friend and love of his life, Cheryl Yvonne Tyson on June 28, 1975. They celebrated thirty-nine years of marriage.

Jessie can be remembered for his warm smile and kind manner. His patience and devotion to family and friends allowed him to touch the lives of everyone he met. He was especially known as Uncle Jessie or Bebo and boy could he cook! He was always known to put a smile on everyone's face when you knew he had been in the kitchen or in the park on the grill. He enjoyed going fishing with friends, also he loved listening to music and boy could he dance! He truly loved to see all his family get together and would do anything for them.

Later in life, although there were a few times he got really sick, he took the time to learn about Jehovah and study the Bible. Although he didn't outwardly make a dedication by getting baptized he showed his love for Jehovah and knew when to take a firm stand for Bible truths.

He is survived by: his loving wife, Cheryl; their four boys, Tyriek (Michelle), Cory (Andrea), Javonn (Nashae) and Jeremy; grandchildren, Tyrell, Armon, Janiyah and Jaliyah; a host of nieces and nephews; and also his mother-in-law, Roberta Harris.

Words will never express how much Jessie will be missed but the family would like for everyone to embrace your special moment that defined your relationship with Jessie Summerville.
