Obituary

Norvel was born on Monday, January 26, 1953 in Bluefield, West Virginia. Affectionately known as “PeeWee” to family and “Goldie” or “Miss Dee” to friends, Norvel was raised by her beloved grandmother, Mrs. Ola Mae Boffman. She grew up with her only sister, Mrs. Deborah L. Harris and her cousin, Mrs. Cornelia Ann Johnson.

She attended elementary, and secondary schools as well as Park Central High School in West Virginia. At the age of seventeen, she came to New York City to live with her mother, Ms. Velma L. Martin until her death one year later. She was a small town country girl who made her way in the big city. Which was her home until her death.

Norvel is survived by: her sister, Deborah; her children, LaTanya, Adam, and Damon; seven grandchildren, Déjanique, Monéjah, Ajaneé, Meccah, Aaron, Damon Jr. and Adam Jr.; as well as many cousins and an immeasurable amount of friends.

To know her was to love her, she will be terribly missed. But we can all rest in the notion that she has no more pain, no more suffering. She is with our Lord and Savior and with us always.

Sleep in peace, Mommy. We love you always and forever.

I'm thankful for memories happy and sad, I'm thankful for all the memories we had. From the night I played the silver bells, to the birth of Déjanique Norvel. From teaching me your cooking style, to the little crook in your smile, I'm so thankful. You warned me of life's dangers, like never talk to strangers. You taught me right from wrong, you introduced me to all those old school songs. When I said my prayers at night, you were never far from sight. Always there by my side, my appreciation I cannot hide. So, thank you mommy for all you've done, thank you for the woman I've become.
