Life Reflections

Ms. Jacquelyn King was born on August 22, 1951 in Newark, New Jersey, daughter of the late Joe Henry Howard and Jessie Mae Howard.

She attended Newark Public Schools until eleventh grade and completed twelfth grade at Linden High School. She received a Bachelor's degree in Humanities from Thomas Edison State College.

“Jackie”, as she was affectionately called by her family and friends, was an Office Manager at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey where she worked for twenty-eight years. Jackie also held licenses in Life Insurance and Real Estate.

A dedicated member of Shiloh Baptist Church in Plainfield, New Jersey, she served in the Prayer and Women's Ministries, and organized the Liturgical Dance team.

Jackie wrote two books, The Power Tower in 1995 and When to Bind and When to Loose in 2008.

Jackie blessed others with her dynamic personality and a contagious smile. She was thoughtful, giving and always full of energy. She made people laugh and loved going on long walks in Rahway Park.

On Sunday, April 26, 2015, Jackie departed this life at Robert Wood Johnson Hospital in Rahway, New Jersey.

Ms. Jacquelyn King leaves to cherish loving memories: her dear son, Kwame King; loving mother, Jessie Mae Howard; grandsons, Sabir and Dezmond King; sisters, Barbara Joanne Jackson and Thelma “Kathy” Howard; brother, Aaron “Ricky” Howard; nephew, Khari Jackson; nieces, Makaya and Jamila Jackson, and Shanita Howard; mother-in-law, Joan Evans; sisters-in-law, Desiree Tolson and Angel Fladger McGill; aunts, cousins and numerous loving relatives and friends.

Jackie will be profoundly missed by all.

Lovingly submitted,
The Family
