Obituary

Aquasia Kelly Johnson was born in New York City on December 19th, 1993 to Tracey Daniels and David Johnson. At the time of birth, she was diagnosed with CCHS a rare repertory disorder. Doctors gave a life expectancy of three days, but God is good!

For the majority of Aquasia's childhood she lived in medical facilities. Although she wasn't living at home with her family, they visited often and was sure to never treat her differently. In December 2007 at the age of fourteen, her dream of coming home with her family came true. She transitioned with the help of her family and never used her disability as an excuse.

Aquasia attended A. Phillip Randolph Campus High School where she made friends and developed her love for drawing. She enjoyed learning and worked tirelessly at her studies. In June 2012, she graduated and was awarded her High School Diploma. She received awards in Environmental Science and Outstanding Achievement in English Language Arts.

She enjoyed hanging out at local libraries, contacting family and friends, drawing and watching cartoons. She had dreams of one day being able to swim, dreams of being a chef and cartoonist but God had eternal plans for her life.

She leaves to mourn: her Parents, Tracey and David; Brothers, Davon, Jason, Deshaun, Tyrque and Dion; Sisters, Althea, Courtney, Amina, and Davina; Nieces, Camy and Cheyese; Nephews, Anthony, Davonte, Alston and Jason II; a special friend, Dimitri Nittles; and a host of aunts, uncles, cousins and friends. She was preceded in death by her brother, Gerald, Jr.

Today we celebrate Aquasia's miraculous Life.

“When you were born, you did not come with instructions. I know I have made some mistakes along the way and for those I am sorry. I am far from being the perfect father, but I have always done the best I could. The mistakes I have made came from lack of understanding, not lack of love because from the moment you were born into my life, I knew I would love you with all I am. On the day you were born I looked into your eyes and all my dreams came true. I love you more than you will ever know, now and for eternity.”

Your Father.
