Hello.

Our mom, Gail White, was a woman whose love was felt in the little things that mattered most. She had a joyful spirit, a caring heart, and a smile that could brighten a room. She loved the Lord, loved her family deeply, and found so much happiness simply being surrounded by the people she loved.

Some of our favorite memories are the ordinary moments that became unforgettable because she was there. Sitting around the table playing cards, listening to good music, laughing until our sides hurt, or just spending time together, those are the moments she treasured. She had a playful sense of humor and a way of making everyone feel comfortable. She loved to laugh, she loved to make others laugh, and she always found joy in being with family.

One of the things that made our mom so special was the love she had for children. If there was a child who needed someone to care for them, she was there. She lovingly cared for her children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and so many other children throughout the years. She never hesitated to open her heart or lend a helping hand. Caring for others wasn't something she tried to do, it was simply who she was.

The greatest gift our mom gave us was her love. She taught us the importance of faith, family, kindness, and showing up for the people you love. Those lessons were not only spoken, but they were also lived every day through the way she cared for others.

As her children and grandchildren, we are thankful for every laugh, every conversation, every hug, and every memory we were blessed to share with her. While we will miss her more than words can express, we find comfort in knowing that her love, her faith, and the example she set will continue to live on through each of us. Her legacy is not only found in what she did, but in the lives, she touched and the family she loved so complete.
