Obituary

Donald Kevin Morrow, affectionately known as “Don” or “Hound,” was born at Harlem Hospital on September 29, 1969. He grew up in the Manhattanville Projects and attended Lewis D. Brandeis High School.

Donald later worked at Mount Sinai and later as a security guard at Harlem Children’s Zone, where he enjoyed working with children and being a part of their lives. Donald eventually made North Carolina his home, where he continued his working journey at Shaw University and Wake Medical Hospital.

A Life Full of Personality

If you knew Donald, you already know that no obituary could ever truly capture the man he was because Don was definitely one of one.

Donald had a personality that could never be ignored. He had a great sense of humor, a quick wit, and a natural ability to make people laugh. Sometimes he did it intentionally, and sometimes he simply had to be himself.

And then there were those other moments. Don had a little Jekyll and Hyde going on. You could greet him one day and get the sweetest, funniest Don, and the next day you might look at him and think, “Okay...who is this today?”

But that was Hound.

You never quite knew which version of Don you were going to get, but you always knew you were going to get Donald.

He was funny, outspoken, stubborn, mischievous, loving, and, at times, downright aggravating. Yet beneath that tough exterior was a man with a heart of gold. Donald loved his family and friends in his own special way, and those who truly knew him understood that there was always love underneath it all.

Those We Hold in Our Hearts

Donald was preceded in death by his beloved siblings, Reggie, Sharon, and Ronald.

He leaves to cherish his memory his mother, Martha Ann Morrow; his son, Roman; his siblings, Karen (Moddie), Carol (Pixie), Angela (Pat), and Darnell (Tee); along with a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, his MVP family, and countless friends who loved him dearly.

Rest Easy, Don

You were one crazy character with a heart of gold, and we loved you just the way you were.

Your wild spirit, your laughter, your stubbornness, your humor, and your unforgettable personality will be missed more than words can say.

You left your mark on our hearts, and that mark will never fade.

Until we meet again.

Forever Loved. Forever Remembered.

To Say Goodbye

To say goodbye is not the end
To all my family and friends
For life goes on, you must endure
For my eternity is sure.
Remember all the good times
The memories we've shared
The precious jewels of laughter
The tender love and care.
I found my resting place
God's peace surrounds my soul
Let love abound in all your hearts
Let heaven be your goal.
