Reflections of Life

Anya Shaolin Rogers aka Baby Doll was born on January 7, 1981 to Mary Brown and Clarence Rogers.

She was a beautiful, kind, loving, intelligent, funny, giving, loyal and free spirited person. She lived her life to the fullest and on the edge. She was also fearless and daring. She was a take no nonsense type of girl and didn't care what people thought of her. She was a straight forward kind of person, if you didn't want to know the truth don't ask her, because she would give it to you with no filter.

Anya truly loved her family with all her heart and soul, most of all her brothers, Jaheem Thompson and Clarence Rogers, Jr. She would turn the universe upside down for these two with a take no prisoners type of attitude when it came to them. She adored her sisters too but she had a very special bond with her brothers.

Anya was a type of person that would take you in, feed you and give you the shirt off her back without hesitation. That's who my ANYA was.

She was preceded in death by her maternal grandparents Mary L. Brown and Clarence H. Brown and her paternal grandparents, Mary L. Rogers and Willie J. Rogers.

Anya was called home to be with the Lord on Tuesday, March 13, 2018.

She is survived by her parents, Mary Brown and Clarence Rogers; her siblings, Clarence Rogers, Jr., Jaheem Thompson, Barbara Jean Draper, Tiffany Gatson and Tamara Spencer; her god children, Luis Mayo and Alicia Marie Medina. She is also survived by a host of aunts, uncle, cousins that is too many to name here and she loved them all and a multitude of wonderful and loyal friends that loved her dearly.

Don't

*Don't spend too much time in mourning,
Tears are for the sad;
I left to be with Jesus
And this should make you glad.
Don't waste your hours in grieving,
No need to feel distress;
I'm tired of life's frustrations
And had to get some rest.
Don't puzzle yourself with questions
Or try to reason why
Life here for me was ended,
It came my time to die.
Don't lose the love I gave you
Feed it with your care;
Grow it with devotion
And spread it everywhere.
Don't fret because my leaving
Came in such a way;
We'll have another meeting
In God's eternal day.*
