Obituary

Laminga Alexis, also known to those who loved her as “Minga, Pretty, Bugga” to her aunt Julie and “Popeye” to her Uncle Wager, was born in Brooklyn, NY on May 4, 1981 to her parents Lydia Alexis and Nathaniel Robinson.

Laminga attended Carnarsie High School. In her early years she held several jobs, including working for The NYC Parks Department. However, being a full-time mom was her most fulfilling and rewarding job. Laminga was a proud and loving mother of 7 children. She was most protective and devoted when it came to her children. As loving and caring as she was, she was disciplined in their upbringing, especially when it came to their education. Minga was in constant communication with all their teachers and principals and had their phone numbers on speed dial. She attended all school meetings and conferences that pertained to her children and kept in constant communication with all school personnel. Her love for children extended outside her home as well as she often donated food, clothes, books and toys to kids in her community.

Laminga was fierce and extremely loyal. She was very protective of the people that she considered close friends and family and she selected her friends very carefully. Minga was a woman whose trust was not easily gained. Once you cross her, you never got the opportunity to do it again. If you were lucky enough to be called a friend, you knew that you had someone you can always trust and rely on. Someone with undeniable loyalty and honesty, she was a great mom, daughter, sister, niece, aunt, cousin, godmother and friend. Minga was a hardworking, go getter, no nonsense lady who told you like it is, not like what you thought it was. Minga was a dynamic force. She had an awesome faith in God, and was a member of Greater Tabernacle Christian Cathedral Church. Minga and her children looked forward to spending time with her church family as much as possible.

Laminga died peacefully at NYU-Langone Hospital on April 12, 2019 with her mother at her bedside holding her hand. She leaves to mourn her 7 children: Alaysha, Zamarah, Lanaya, Francis, Jahmir, Tyshaun and Kaden; her parents Lydia Alexis and Nathaniel (Butch) Robinson; grandmother Irene Alexis; brothers Nathaniel Jr., Deshawn, and Jonathan; sisters-in-law Shirelle and Trinette; several aunts, with special mention of Auntie Julie and Aunt Mabel; several uncles with special mention of Uncle Wager, Uncle Bert and Uncle Ronei; several cousins with special mention of Geneva; godchildren Jamill and Shaliece; several friends with special mention of Latoya (Toya), Jamilia and Iesha (Nuna); and a large extended family.

Laminga will never be forgotten; and may she forever rest in peace.

Psalm 23

The Lord is My Shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul. He leadeth me in the path of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies. Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.
