Saddott Free

*There are so many things that we can say about you
And because your soul is traveling peacefully we just want to share these last few words with you*

You were an old soul, quiet, well mannered, and respectful

*Thank you for all the laughs when you came around you always had a joke or two
You had already accomplished so much in life and maybe that's why God called for you*

We won't cry too much but when we think of your smile it's something not easy for us to get through

Saddott we love you Saddott you are free

Saddott thank you for your baby girl Jayla, she's a beautiful reflection of your memory

You were a great brother to Malechi and Jacoby

And Saddott this is your mother Kellisha, "Thank you for being a wonderful son to me

I am honored I was blessed to be your mommy

You always had little sayings when you came around

I'm tickled at your infamous lines you were a true King so let this poem serve as your crown

You lived a peaceful life hanging out with friends and watching basketball

You were always there as someone to count on you never let us fall

So heaven here he comes

Open the gates for Gods magnificently crafted son

He lived a life so wonderful God said it was time to come home; job well done

Sing Happy Birthday he left four days before his special day

But I know the angels are singing and rejoicing for your arrival as we wait down here and pray

We will wait until we see each other again

So for now "S-Dot" we will let you rest so that the next chapter of life can begin!

We will always love you!
