Reflections of Life

Nathaniel “Bro. Nate X” McDowell, 50, died, Wednesday, March 25, 2020. He leaves his wife of thirty years, Takisha McDowell; his son, NaQuan Jabriel, his three daughters, Star’tasia, Natisha and My’Dayzhia McDowell; his grandchildren, Nah’meir, Ta’Nylah, Jai’yana, Kash’meir, Zy’eir and Kimoni; his sister, Patricia and four brothers, Leverne, Joseph and Michael McDowell and Michael Batts, a host of aunts, uncles, cousins, other relatives and friends.

Bro. Nate X was born in Brooklyn, NY and raised in Paterson, NJ. He was preceded in death by his father, Roosevelt Durant and mother, Helen McDowell and his mother-in-law, Michele Batts.

Nathaniel worked for the Paterson Board of Education. He joined the Nation of Islam in 2003. Bro. Nate X loved serving his community and supporting the young brothers and sisters.

He was a dedicated and devoted F.O.I. who enjoyed going in the community with the brothers to sell the Final Call newspaper. He was a humble student of the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan. Brother Nate X was a family man who enjoyed cooking for his friends and family, especially his grandchildren. One of his known dishes was his famous curry chicken with rice and peas. The love he had for his family, nation and community was beyond extraordinary.
