Obituary

Lorraine Graves was born to Elaine Graves on February 25, 1955. She was an identical twin and loved her sister Elaine, that passed away October 9, 2009.

Growing up in Harlem, Lorraine was always surrounded by family and was proud to be an Mohawk Indian.

Lorraine loved and valued education and worked arduously towards new heights. She completed her 1st degree, a Bachelors of Science from Empire University in 2011, and was currently enrolled in NYU's Masters of Social Work Program.

Lorraine was a hard worker, and dedicated to social services, and was currently working at St. John's Riverside Hospital as a CASAC Substance Abuse Counselor, where she touched and impacted many lives.

Her dedication to service was surpassed only by her love of God. She gave her life over to Christ in 2000 at the Church of Revelation, and in 2011 joined The Love Fellowship Tabernacle, under Bishop Hezekiah Walker, where she worked tirelessly with her church family and engaged in many soup kitchens and out reach programs.

Lorraine met Wilfrado Ayala in 87' and the union was blessed with their son, and her only child, Marcus whom she loved dearly. Although her family was small, Lorraine was the backbone for Marcus and her niece Melody.

She was always surrounded by love and is survived and grandsons Marcus Jr. and Macari, and her nephew King.
