OBITUARY

Edward Daugett, Jr., of Newark, New Jersey, departed this earth on Sunday, May 3, 2020. Edward was born on February 20, 1937 in Edgefield, South Carolina to Eloise Singleton and Edward Daugett, Sr.

Edward, who was lovingly called “Billy” by family and close friends, loved to fish, play baseball and occasionally hunt during his younger years in Edgefield, SC. Billy had a love for helping anyone in need. In 1956, Edward moved to Brooklyn, New York to start a life of his own and later settled in New Jersey. Billy’s love for family, fishing and helping others followed him into his adult life. During his time in New Jersey, Billy became a dedicated police officer. After his time with the police force, Billy drove trucks for K&B Furniture company for years until he retired.

Edward became a member of Gospel Mission Baptist Church in Newark, New Jersey where he served as a senior Trustee for over twenty years. During his time at Gospel Mission Baptist Church, he became known as “Mr. Eddie” to all of the members. Edward served as a dedicated member showing his love to help others. He was known for always being there whenever anyone needed him.

Some of his hobbies he had with his children were fishing, working on cars, going bowling and playing spades...while shouting “No Basco”. Billy left such an impression on everyone’s lives that he came in contact with. He had many nicknames and favorite sayings that we all will miss. Many knew him as “Bill”, “Billy” and “Eddie”. Most of his grandchildren loved to call him “Old-man”, “Granddad” and “Butt-Cutter”. Billy was known for not taking any “junk” from anyone. He told you exactly what was on his mind. Some of his favorite sayings were “I’ll cut your butt”, “I’m your father” and “Who you think you talking to”.

Edward was preceded in death by his mother, Eloise, father Edward Sr., brothers; Edgar “Bobby” Daugett, Thomas Lanham, Ronnie Lanham; sister Emma Lee Lanham-Roberson, and son Mathew Pickens. He is survived by his seven children; James Walton of South Carolina, Carnell Daugett of Georgia, Timothy Daugett of New Jersey, Gloria Diane Bonds (James) of South Carolina, Cheryl Simpkins of Virginia, Eric Daugett Sr. (Denise) of New Jersey, Lawanda Little (Kris) of Tennessee; sister, Betty Jean Nicholson (Henry) of New Jersey, brothers; Jesse Lanham (Madie) of Pennsylvania and Bernard Lanham of New Jersey, his good friend Johnny Mills and a host of grandchildren, cousins, nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles and friends. Edward “Billy” Daugett will be missed. Memorial services will be scheduled at a later date.
