Obituary

Andrew Maine aka Dru was born on October 13th, 1986 in Chapelton, Clarendon Jamaica West Indies to Sonia Angel-Anderson, and Andrew Maine Sr. Dru migrated at age 3 to the United States and lived in the Bronx, NY. He attended Christian Academy and PS 16. He lived in the Bronx until he was 7 years and later moved to Queens, NY with his mom, dad Roy Anderson, and brothers Windel Ryan. Dru attended PS 35, PS 36, IS 59, and John Brown High School. He briefly attended Queensborough Community College. After leaving Queensborough Community College, he worked at Macy's, Home Depot, and later served as a Manager at Petland.

Andrew grew up in the church and loved the Lord. He was a spiritual person who always read the bible and prayed daily. He had a passion for music. In the music world, he was popularly known as DruPac. Some of his most popular songs include Lurkers, Solitified, Special Peace, I go Max, Jimmy Choo, Everything Extra, First Thing, and Big Deal, just to name a few. These words from the song, First Thing, paints a picture of Dru, one that is well known to family and friends: "The first thing you gotta know about me is that I am a father, a provider, a rider, an early riser, do whats require to acquire without desire, I don't get tired" This depicts an industrious, committed family person, and a provider. Dru loved his daughter Mia. In one of his songs, Was At? he speaks about Mia, how she gave him a voice. He talks about buying her pampers, taking care of her, and being there for her. Dru was a very affectionate person and loved to hug and give wet kisses. He was productive and owned his own animal grooming business, I Do Groom alongside his music business.

In his last song, Big Deal, Dru talks about persistence and not giving up, "I'm the big deal, not giving up, God still got the steering wheel. I rather work for myself even if it means a pay cut. Don't let your enemy shift your energy."

He was a strong advocate on issues of social justice, police brutality, and racial equality. In fact, on the date of his death, he was protesting with thousands in NYC for justice and equality. In a video recorded on the same day, he denounced violence and advocated peace between law enforcement and citizens. He preached unity and peace among the races. He was not a hypocrite. He had no problem letting you know how he feels about you, but it was done in love and innocence. He held no grudge or hard feelings after letting you know how he felt.

Dru leaves to mourn his mother Sonia Anderson, his dad Roy Anderson, Andrew Maine Sr, daughter Mia, and her mom Oceana, brothers Windel and Ryan, sisters Kianna, Kiara, and Lakya, uncles, aunts, cousins, other family members, and friends. Andrew was deeply loved by his family and friends and will be greatly missed. May his soul rest in eternal peace.

Songs of Solomon 4:16

Awake, O north wind; and come, thou south; blow upon my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out. Let my beloved come into his garden, and eat his pleasant fruits.
