Obituary

Dyrone Charles Babbs, transitioned on Saturday, November 21, 2020. He was surrounded by his mother, daughter, nieces, great nephew and the mother of his late son and oldest daughter.

Dyrone was born on September 1, 1961 in Harlem, New York to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babbs. He was a fun, energetic and spontaneous child. He was very fashionable and even modeled as a child. He had a love for music and cars. He loved playing the drums and developed a love of NASCAR. He was a HUGE Michael Jackson fan and would blast his music daily while preparing to start his day.

He was educated in Harlem at St. Charles Catholic School in his early years. Dyrone was an alter boy until he completed junior high school and later graduated from Alfred E. Smith High School in 1979. He had aspirations of going to the Army which were cut short by an unfortunate accident. However, determined to not let that keep him down he found another passion. He became a driver and did that for many years for various agencies across New York City. He also loved to cook and often thought of himself as a Master Chef.

One of Dyrone's dreams was to make it to the Indy 500 and watch a live NASCAR race. He loved to collect NASCAR collectibles and loved to share it with anyone interested. He didn't believe in saying goodbye when parting ways. If you said it he would correct you and say "it's not goodbye, it's see ya later". So it is with heavy hearts we say, "See ya later kid" and you will be missed.

Dyrone is survived by: his mother, Gussie N. Babbs; sister, Diane Babbs; daughters, Diamond Babbs, and twins, Marshae Babbs and Marchelle Babbs; nieces, Donae Babbs, DaShawn Babbs, Deja Jackson, Danielle Jackson and Dana Jackson; great nephew, Robert "Yunior" Edwards; great niece, Melanie Pena; along with a host of family and friends. Dyrone is preceded in death by his son, Dyrone Charles Babbs, Jr.
