Obituary

Jason Messiah McCorkle also known by “JJ” or “Priceless” was born February 28th 2000.

Immediately we knew he would be special because he was a leap year baby.

His Grandmother named him Messiah (The Anointed King). Jason was wise beyond his age; he helped his mother out by looking after his younger brother and sister while she worked.

He is very charismatic and has a smile that can be remembered forever. Jason knew how to make a joke out of working his friends nerves, however he was extremely caring and loving. He would do anything asked of him when needed.

Jason Excelled in school beyond expectations and got accepted to a gifted and talented school where he was recognized in an NYC Times Article.

Jason went on to become a football star, he played the running back position and most of the time earned himself MVP status.

Throughout the years Jason explored other activities such as Basketball and Poetry which led him to fall in love with rapping and that was the beginning of “PRICELESS”

In high school Jason became a father to his Little “Legacy”. He enjoyed being a dad and loved his son dearly.

Jason was a son, a brother, a father, a nephew and most of all he was a KING.

He is survived by his Parents, siblings, child, child’s mother, aunts, uncles and a host of family and friends.

We are sure that Jason’s grandmother met him with open arms and told him “Life will not end here, it is eternal.”

Miss Me But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road
And the sun has set for me
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room
Why cry for a soul set free?

Miss me a little-but not too long
And not with your head bowed low
Remember the love that we once shared
Miss me-but let me go

For this is a journey that we all must take
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan
A step on the road to home

When you are lonely and sick of heart
Go to the friends we know
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds
Miss me but let me go.

Acknowledgment

The family wishes to thank all of you for your prayers, messages of comfort and the many other acts of kindness shown during our hour of bereavement. May God continue to bless you in a very special way.
