Obituary

Delores was born in Manhattan, New York on April 2, 1934. She was the third child from Moses and Zoe Crawford having two brothers and one sister.

She was known to her siblings as "Tookie" or "Lollie." She used to eat soo many lollipops as a little girl. Delores completed her education up to the 12th grade and worked many manufacturing jobs.

Delores met and dated Percy Taylor. In 1960 they married wherefore she brought forth 2 sons: Kermit and Tyrone. By the mid 60's, she was legally separated from marriage and raised the boys on her own.

Delores went back to working factory jobs and decided to change her career, pursuing the home health care industry at the end of the 70's. She enjoyed being with her family and friends in which she hosted many events: Holiday Gatherings, Birthday Parties, or just Parties. Delores was fun loving and well loved by family and friends.

She retired in the mid 90's and found her true faith as a Biblical Jew in the church with her boys.

As the 2000th century years came in, Delores lost her brothers and sister. Delores eventually developed Leukemia, Dementia, and became bedridden. She was well cared for by her son and many devoted health care workers. Through her last days, Delores enjoyed life, still having fun, making jokes, and was well loved.

She is survived by her sons, Kermit and Tyrone; a daughter-in-law, grandkids, a great granddaughter, a niece, cousins, friends, and health aides who will miss and love her.
