Obituary

Lillian Ann Malloy was born on June 16, 1956, in Laurinburg, North Carolina to the late Ruby Mae Malloy and Fredrick McLeod. Lillian, known as Ann was the eldest of two children. She was raised by her beloved grandmother, Laura Cotton Malloy, who was affectionately called “Maw”. Ann had special bonds with her late brother, A.B. Malloy, a sisterly connection with three of her cousins and a motherly relationship with Mrs. Elouise McLeod.

As a teenager, Ann accepted her Lord and Savior at Nashville Baptist Church in Wagram North Carolina, where she taught Sunday School. Ann attended the Scotland County school system in North Carolina. She was an outgoing student and participated in school sports such as volleyball and track. She would often speak of fond memories of her classmates and friends. After graduating in 1974, she visited Harlem, New York, where she fell in love with the city. She was amazed by the tall buildings, bright lights, and the love of community.

On November 9, 1974, she gave birth to her first baby girl, Syreeta Marsh. Eighteen years later baby girl number two was born on March 30, 1993, La’Juliann Malloy.

Ann loved her community and enjoyed gatherings at 530 Manhattan Avenue where she lived for 54 years. She enjoyed holidays especially the 4th of July. Family would come from all over to watch the fireworks with her. This was a family affair. She would celebrate everyone’s victories and encourage us when we were down. Ann loved her family she didn’t mind cooking her famous spaghetti and good ole potato salad, which her grandkids loved. She was an advocate for the people where she lived. She took employment at Perks Candy Store in 1980. She also worked at AT&T and for the US Postal Service. Her love and passion for people propelled her to become a caretaker for the sick. She was a great, diligent home healthcare worker/home attendant. She assisted and cared for people with passion. Ann began the next phase of her journey suffering with Congestive Heart Failure. In December 2009, she received a heart transplant. This disease did not dampen the love and fire she had within her. She was always and constantly smiling. In 2013, when she became a grandmother to RaMir and RaMiya Molloy this brought joy to her life. Her grandchildren called her “ANYA.” She was “ANYA”. These children called her ANYA, ANYA, ANYA, from the time they could speak. I Googled her name, and the biblical translation of Anya means resurrection/He (God) has favors me. The Hebrew name is Ann. I explained what ANYA meant ”a beloved and good person.” I told her I believe God wanted you to know that is His name for you and to encourage you from then on.

On July 15, 2021, the day Mom departed this earthly life which was a month before her 65th birthday, it changed our world. Before her spirit left this earth, she touched her baby girl Jewel, (La’Juliann) and reassured her that everything would be just fine. She leaves to mourn her precious memories: two daughters, Syreeta Marsh and La’Juliann Malloy; two grandchildren, Ramir and Ramiya Malloy; maternal aunts, Betty Malloy and Martha Freeman; aunt, Elizabeth Jones; uncle, James, John, and her favorite Harvey Malloy, who preceded her in death. Ann was beloved by her family, and she will be remembered as Aunt Ann to her nephews, great nephews, and nieces. She was well loved by her cousins and there are too many to name. To know Ann was a blessing to us! She was our gift.

A Poem For You Mom

...I love you Mommy
The best, most amazing mommy.
The most magical mommy
You was an angel of a mommy
My one of a kind mommy...
me and you get along just fine mommy...
it will always be just me and you mommy.
Forever my special mommy...
from your Babygirl
