Obituary

Jasper Paul Henry was born in Kingston, Jamaica in the late 50s to Lucille Lewis of many siblings. His love for motorcycles led to him being employed as a bearer at Sangston's Bookstore. During this time he sired his three eldest daughters, Tasha, Sashona, and Trudy. He went on to have Anesha, his namesake Paul, and Renee with Salome. He migrated to America where he met and married Kecia and had his washbelly, Stephan, whom he cared for until his passing.

Bolo was an incredibly charismatic man who loved life and loved all his friends and family. We could stand here and list what we all heard before and not realize it's until these moments that life is a lot shorter than any of us realized. He was greatness and he will be missed dearly.

And to my family, Luke Chapter 1 Verse 37; For with God, nothing should be impossible. If we as a family can put our trust in God, we can and we will get through anything. While on the ride called life, you have to take the good with the bad, smile while you are sad, love what you have, and remember what you had. Always forgive but never forget. Learn from your mistakes, but never regret. People change, things go wrong. Just remember that the ride goes on. Thank you for coming and helping us to celebrate this man who has impacted so many lives.

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little-but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me-but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick at heart,
Go to the friends we know.
Laugh at the things we use to do
Miss me-but let me go.
