Obituary

On the eighteenth day of September in 1970, at Orange Memorial Hospital, Terrick Arlondo Holland was born to father, Christial Holland Sr. and mother, Mona Holland. Terick was the firstborn of their five sons. He was followed by his siblings: Laquine Holland, Christial Holland Jr., Arlondo Holland, and Alonzo Holland. Terick attended Park Avenue Elementary School in Orange, NJ. He developed a brotherly bond with his cousins Thomas Lawrence Jr., Charmaine Lawrence, and Sharon Pierce. Terick continued middle school in California with his father and stepmother, Virginia Mayo- Holland. He also attended Passaic County Vocational Technical High School. Upon graduating, he went on to pursue various interests and career choices, such as: Forklift Operator, Chef, Emergency Medical Technician, and Entrepreneur. Terick was an Artisan. He was known for his loud, vibrant, and contagious energy, earning the nickname "Showtime".

On February 5, 1994, he welcomed the birth of his only child, daughter, Tamiya Jordan with Alaina Jordan. Becoming a father was undoubtedly the proudest of his many titles, which was evident as he rejoiced, while boasting of his daughter's accomplishments and accolades during conversation. On the beautiful winter day, December 6, 2014, Terick married Sherri-lyn Brown, a day never to be forgotten and enthralled in love. With grace and couth, he took on his role as stepfather to Jahi and Tadijah Brown. In life, Terick was a fearless survivor. He survived several life-threatening situations like being shot five times, and many cars and motorcycle accidents, leaving him with multiple severe injuries.

After which, Terick did not allow his broken body to break his spirit. He became closer to God. He joined New Hope Baptist Church and was a founding member of Bloc Burnas (East Orange Chapter) Mc, where he held position as the Sargent at Arms. Through these organizations, he fed the homeless, participated in back-to-school supply giveaways and food drives for children and families in communities throughout Essex County as well as, on his own accord. Terick has always expressed his love for God by his actions towards others, displaying true humanitarianism. Terick was very protective and loving to his family and friends. His infectious smile, his serious gaze, his words of encouragement, his presence in any room, will be deeply missed.
