Obituary

Luke Clark, Jr. was born on March 20th, 1955, in Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York City to Luke Sr. and Artie May Clark.

Luke graduated from Julia Richman High School in the Upper East Side of Manhattan and went on to Texas Southern College on a football scholarship. He was devoted to the Boy Scouts of America and loved to hunt and fish.

Luke worked with his parents in their family-owned business at Floral Disc-O-Tech Flower shop in the Bronx until his parents retired. Then he worked at The United Cerebral Palsy organization until he became ill and had to retire himself. Luke Jr. received several awards at his place of employment for good workmanship and while there he was loved and even called a gentle giant.

Luke Jr. leaves to mourn: his mother, Artie May Clark; brother, Edward and wife, Dora; aunts, Mary, Dorothy and Madalyn of Arizona; uncles, Freddie and Johnnie R.; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends.

I'm Free

Don't grieve for me, for now I'm free,
I'm following the path God laid for me.
I took his hand when I heard his call,
I turned my back and left it all.

I could not stay another day,
To laugh, to love, to work, to play.
Tasks left undone must stay that way,
I've found that peace at the close of the day.

If my parting has left a void,
Then fill it with remembered joy.
A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss,
Ah yes, these things I too will miss.

Be not burdened with times of sorrow,
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My Life's been full, I savoured much,
Good friends, good times, a loved one's touch,

Perhaps my time seemed all too brief,
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief.
Lift up your heart and share with me,
God wanted me now, He set me free.
