Obituary

Renford Wordsworth Pinnock, famously known as “Tyrone” or “Renny” was born to Renford Pinnock and Lorna Armstrong on August 24, 1972 at 20 Martin Street Spanish Town, St. Catherine of Jamaica.

From a young age, he’s always had the drive for a great education. His schooling began at Spanish Town Basic, then on to Spanish Town Infant, Johnathan Grant High, and finally to Excelsior Community College. During his time in college he developed a fascination in computer science. Since then he was able to master all things related to computers. After completing school, he taught information technology to secondary students where he later found work in a computer shop. Shortly after he decided to venture out on his own to do independent projects fixing computers and softwares.

Aside from his talent in computer sciences, he was also a self taught electrician and construction worker. He loved to conceptualize ideas and build them himself. When completed, he was quite proud of his creations and would often look for ways to improve them. Tyrone was a hard working business man... always looking for a plan to create what he called “an empire” for his kids to carry on. Many would agree that he was definitely one of the most industrious men they’ve encountered. You name it and he could do it effortlessly or he was definitely eager to learn.

After coming to the states, his business career was no different. Many would tell you Renny was an intelligent man and constantly looking to grow. He was a man of big dreams and never stopped thinking about how he could make his dreams reality. He always looked for new business ventures, some profitable and some not so much, which he took as a lesson learned for the next venture. He always kept working, no matter what obstacles he encountered along the way. He was able to bounce back and adapt to the changing world by getting himself fit to market his services and make a profitable business out of it. A dear friend remarked after his passing that, "whatever yuh need, or think yah need down the line, check Tyrone and him deal wid it fi yuh. He was an OG Hustler.

All who knew Renny can certainly say he was a family man and love being surrounded by his loved ones. His children were the most important thing to him. There was nothing too good for them to have, no lengths too great that he wouldn't find a way to get to them and give them what they needed. His children were dearest to his heart, everything they'd share with him he was interested in, supported their dreams and always made himself available. He had very high hopes for them and was committed to making them into the best versions of themselves.

He was a caring, wonderful and tremendous father to his kids. At home with his children and/or good friends is where he was at his happiest. He enjoyed quality time and creating lifelong memories with his family. Many times when you'd pop up on Tyrone he'd be at home tending to his kids, whether he was cooking for his children, cleaning, or even washing. He was quite capable on his own and did well providing for them.

Tyrone was known as a charitable man, he always wanted to help out a loved one wherever he could. Many would describe him as a kind hearted and giving man. One friend from his high school days said, "whenever Pinnock was at school, mi couldn't hungry... all when mi nave no lunch money at all once he's there mi would a well fed a guh home" Once he's able he was more than willing to help those around him.

Tyrone was known for his outstanding smile and infectious laugh. You couldn't be around Tyrone for too long without him giving you a story that wouldn't have you doubling over in laughter.

Tyrone leaves behind seven beautiful children, Renae, Ryan, Zavon, Athena, Kailyn, Allison and Ayden. His dear mother Lorna, his two older sisters Sherine and Dian, cousins, nieces, nephews, uncles and aunts. He will be dearly missed by family, friends and all who've met him... his captivating smile, his contagious laughter, his sharp wit and flirty comebacks will be comparable to no other. We just want to wish him all the peace onward. Thank you.

No Time For Sad Remembrances

*There's no time for sad remembrances
Because I'm home where I belong
I've conquered all my battles,
I've even heard the trumpet's song.
I've climbed my highest mountain
And I've reached an even peak,
And I've found that peace and true reward
That you have yet to seek.
There's no time for sad remembrances
For you have a precious life;
So find comfort in my journey
Please don't bear this pain and strife.
Oh! My Father's house is perfect
Just like He said it would be,
So dry your tears
Because I'm home and now I'm free.
I am part of all the beauty
That your world has yet to see;
So don't be sad about my journey,
Just be glad that I am free!*
