Obituary

Charmaine was born in Harlem, New York on February 18, 1974 to the late James Earl Hyman and Lucille Marie Blake, and raised by Aurea Ortiz. Charmaine was a loving mother to her daughter Imani Blake and son Isaiah Blake. As an adolescent she was a caretaker from time to time to her youngest brothers Quentin Blake & Clarence Jones and more.

Charmaine's greatest attribute was herself. Balancing humor, love, strength and protection all in one. She enjoyed risk & thrill taking experiences, music and of course a gym workout to get her day started. Helping others such as family, friends and strangers was something she took joy in often.

From childhood to adulthood practicing structure, hard work and determination to anything she dedicated herself to Charmaine loved life and all the ups and downs that came along with it. Crime Tv shows or movies was her favorites. With such a pure heart and strong minded in anything she had passion for Charmaine's overall presence was undeniable.

Charmaine leaves to treasure her memories, her loving children whom are Isaiah & Imani Blake.

When Tomorrow Starts Without Me

When tomorrow starts without me, and I'm not there to see if the sun should rise and find your eyes, all filled with tears for me. I wish so much you wouldn't cry, the way you did today, while thinking of the many things, we didn't get to say. I know how much you love me, as much as I love you, and each time that you think of me, I know you'll miss me too. But when tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand that an angel came and called my name, and took me by the hand and said, "my place was ready, in heaven far above and that I'd have to leave behind, all those I dearly love." But when I walked through heaven's gates, I felt so much at home. When God looked down and smiled at me, from His great golden throne. He said "This is eternity, and all I've promised you." Today for life on earth is past, but here it starts anew. I promise no tomorrow, for today will always last. And since each day's the same way, there's no longing for the past. So when tomorrow starts without me, don't think we're far apart. For every time you think of me, I'm right here in your heart.
