ME & YOU

*If love was a person your name would be right next to it
Always protecting me wanting the best for me
Not once did you ever have to prove it
If you said jump I'd asked how high
But you still lift me up to get the perfect view
Stuck like glue there was me then there was you
Keeping my secrets and listening to my dreams
Fighting off my demons
And their for my needs
You knew I could go anywhere and be anything
Showing me nothing has a limit when it come to you and me
Catching me when I fall, but never putting me down
Right or wrong you stuck by my side
Tears running down my face or head held up with pride
My Poppa and father my strong black king
Saying what needs to be said and always standing on what you mean
My fighter my protector my angel in the sky
From you I know how a man should love me and stick by my side
I'll miss the good times and can't remember the bad ones
The memories I'll keep come once in a lifetime and for you a new chapter has begun
